ROSEMARIE NELSON
List of Publications

“Attention Grabbers: Technology is making it increasingly easier to contact and educate your patients; and they are waiting for you,” Physicians Practice Tech Doctor, www.physicianspractice.com, January 15, 2007.

“Sixty ideas in 60 minutes: Putting technology to work to save time!” Bulletin of the Allegheny County Medical Society, December 2006.

“Click – There goes another paper-based practice,” MGMA Connexion, Vol. 6, Issue 4, April 2006

“Connecting the providers in your healthcare community: One step at a time,” Frontiers of Health Services Management, ACHE, December 2005

“Improving access – It’s all about the patient,” The Patient-Centered Gastroenterology Practice, November 2005

“EMRs for gastro – Improved flow for improved care,” The Patient-Centered Gastroenterology Practice, August 2005

“Doctor’s office quality information technology program: What does it mean to your practice?” MGMA Connexion, Vol. 5, Issue 7, August 2005

“Are you using what you’ve already paid for?” Executive Decisions in Dermatology, May/June 2005

“Manage demand online – Improve efficiencies using the web,” Physicians Practice, May 2005

“Too much paper? Technology helps you get back to patient care,” The Patient-Centered Gastroenterology Practice, May 2005
"Ranking the EMRs," Physicians Practice, March 2005
"Technology improves service to patients in integrated delivery systems," MGMA e-Connexion, March 22, 2005
"Technology tips and tricks – Use what you have," www.epрактиs.com, March 2005
"Hiring an IT specialist," Physicians Practice, January 2005
"Academic practices and technology," APA Matrix, Fall 2004
"Not paperless yet?" Physicians Practice, October 2004
"Smart web surfing – How to save time online," Physicians Practice, September 2004
"Tech Rx: How to keep your equipment healthy," The Patient-Centered Allergy Practice, March 2004
"Tech tips: How can your practice improve the patient registration process?" Directions, Winter 2004
"How to keep your equipment healthy," with Greg Kennedy, Physicians Practice, February 2004
"Tech tricks at your fingertips – Make the most of the tools you already have," Physicians Practice, Jan. 2004
"Review cycle times for claims and reimbursement Q & A," e-Connexion, June 10, 2003
"Maintain financial health with a monthly check-up Q & A," e-Connexion, May 13, 2003
"More 'dumb' questions smart doctors ask," Medical Economics, February 8, 2002
"HIPAA: Getting it right," Directions, Fall 2001
"Put a PC in your waiting room!" Medical Economics, September 3, 2001
"The connected physician," contributing editor to Medical Economics Supplement, October 22, 2001
"Take a hard line on software support," Medical Economics, July 9, 2001
"Why are you still posting manually?" MGM Journal, Vol. 48, Issue 4, July/August 2001
"The only dumb question is the one you don’t ask," Medical Economics, June 4, 2001
"Is your system in neutral when it should be in drive?" Medical Economics, April 9, 2001
"The Office of the Future: A consortium integrating equipment design and informatics in the medical care system," American Clinical Laboratory, January/February 2001
"Staff, this is a computer," Medical Economics, December 4, 2000
"Back up PC files now or regret it later," AAOS Bulletin, October 2000
"Web can cut practices’ costs," AAOS Bulletin, October 2000
"Get rid of software application overload," Medical Group Management Update, August 1, 2000
"How to select a practice management system," www.modernpractice.com, May 2000
"The medical practice and Internet – promising or posturing?" MGM Update, July 15, 2000
"Getting the most from office computers," AAOS Bulletin, April 2000
"Handheld capture charges, speed billing cycle," Directions, Spring 2000
"Informatics, Schminformatics: Where’s the Beef?" Essential Informatics for Medical Groups, February 2000
"Get the most from information technology," MGMA Update, Jan.1, 2000
"The risks of underutilizing your computer system," MGMA Journal, November/December 1999
"Technology turns the home into a natural extension of the physician’s office," Essential Informatics for Medical Groups, October 1999
"Get more value from your practice management system," MGMA Journal, September/October 1999
"It pays to let computer do the work," AAOS Bulletin, August 1999
"Handhelds capture charges, speed billing cycle," Practice Solutions, July/August 1999
"Electronic access to office notes without the expense of a CPR," Essential Informatics for Medical Groups, June 1999
"Handhelds capture charges," Essential Informatics for Medical Groups, March 1999
"Get more value from your practice management system," Essential Informatics for Medical Groups, January 1999
"You can swap 35mm slides for a floppy," AAOS Bulletin, December 1998
"The Phone: Most valuable business tool or your enemy?" BetweenRounds.com, November 1998
"The office of the future - What does the CPR mean?" Surgical Services Management Journal, April 1998